

AK-102

AK Solutions for Western Ammo

Legendary AK platform expands the horizons and provides great opportunity for the operators using 5.56x45 mm ammunition to have their first-hand experience with a short barrel AK.

The 5.56mm AK-102 Kalashnikov assault rifle is an outreach to the wider international market with a more common European caliber. A successful attempt to merge Russian reliability and serviceability with 5.56x45 ammunition in compact size of a short barrel AK-102 with a folding buttstock.

This project is about breaching the barriers in the world of small arms and having an open mind to cooperation, technologies and standardization. All the design and material solutions implemented in the AK-102 are common for the 100th series of Kalashnikov Rifles. The AK-102 is a short barrel version with a modified flash hider and a folding buttstock (made of shock-resistant polymer) which allows the shooter to use it from vehicles on the move.

This version of the AK is perfect for Vehicle Crewmembers, Special Forces, Law-enforcement units and Security Operatives who seek balance between compact size and sufficient firepower.
