The 9mm AS special assault rifle is designed to destroy manpower, wearing individual means of protection and riding soft vehicles. Special rounds, a built-in silencer, and the moving parts design ensure silent and flameless fire. The assault rifle is fitted with a folding metal butt, and features small weight and dimensions.

All moving parts of the weapon are designed so as to provide for a maximum stability of the weapon. The trigger assembly provides for single-shot and full-automatic fire. The fire selector is behind the trigger.

The iron sights consist of a foresight and an adjustable rear sight. The assault rifle can be fitted with various optic and optronic sights.
